

When spring came all the snow melted and so did the snowman.
Someone hammered a sign into the grass in front of Harry's house.
For Sale the sign said.

Walter frowned and Harry cried. "I don't want to move!"

"Things change," Walter said. "I might have to move someday too."

